

THE IFP'S PLEDGE TO TACKLE POVERTY

HIV/Aids, unemployment, poverty and crime are trapping millions of rural and urban South Africans in cycle of poverty. The IFP is committed to reversing this trend by enabling individuals and communities with education and infrastructure to break the chains of poverty. The IFP commits itself to bridging the gap between the rich and the poor and pledges to:

- Give South Africans the tools to help them break out of the chains of poverty;
- Develop a new agricultural deal for both rural and urban areas;
- Establish a back-to-basics food security plan which ensure that every family can feed itself;
- Treat the formation of co-operatives both as a job creation and poverty eradication tool as a priority;
- Ensure that co-operatives have access to equipment such as tractors in order to maximise agricultural output;
- Expedite and expand programmes to supply water, electricity and sanitation;
- Encourage employment growth by promoting tourism, urban/rural domestic crafts and the service sector; and
- Reverse the trend of urban overcrowding and rural depopulation by infrastructure development in rural areas.

VOTE IFP

IFP BLOWING THE WHISTLE AGAINST POVERTY

THE IFP'S PLEDGE TO TACKLE POVERTY

HIV/Aids, unemployment, poverty and crime are trapping millions of rural and urban South Africans in cycle of poverty. The IFP is committed to reversing this trend by enabling individuals and communities with education and infrastructure to break the chains of poverty. The IFP commits itself to bridging the gap between the rich and the poor and pledges to:

- Give South Africans the tools to help them break out of the chains of poverty;
- Develop a new agricultural deal for both rural and urban areas;
- Establish a back-to-basics food security plan which ensure that every family can feed itself;
- Treat the formation of co-operatives both as a job creation and poverty eradication tool as a priority;
- Ensure that co-operatives have access to equipment such as tractors in order to maximise agricultural output;
- Expedite and expand programmes to supply water, electricity and sanitation;
- Encourage employment growth by promoting tourism, urban/rural domestic crafts and the service sector; and
- Reverse the trend of urban overcrowding and rural depopulation by infrastructure development in rural areas.

VOTE IFP

IFP BLOWING THE WHISTLE AGAINST POVERTY